

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A photomask for use in photolithographic processing performed to manufacture a semiconductor device. The 5 photomask includes four square regions, each having a mask pattern. The four mask patterns are used successively and reformed so that the photomask is used oriented in substantially the same direction.